

Collaboration between CIB & UCLG learning

Jessie Post, CIB secretariat

What is CIB?

- Network of practitioners working on local government development cooperation programmes → capacity and institution building
  - Peer community – learning together
  - Aimed at increasing development effectiveness, through collaboration and coordination and learning together.
  - Topics we discuss together: gender equality, SDGs, COVID-19 impact, relations with donors and national governments, access to finance
  - Linking UCLG processes and policies to ‘the field’ and vice versa

How do we cooperate with the learning team concretely?

Which materials have been of particular importance for CIB network?

- Especially 3 and 4 of SDG series have been of particular interest to the CIB network
  - Reporting is key to be able to measure progress; associations have a crucial role to play
  - Decentralised cooperation & SDGs
- Resilience module & upcoming materials on local finance also very interesting
- Beyond the outbreak website with COVID-materials

2021

- SDG modules 3 and 4 webinars (targeted at LGAs) → also linking this to a UCLG policy paper on development cooperation
- SDG reporting - Voluntary National Reviews
- Exchange between LGAs on domestic, association affairs

Things to explore

- Case studies/stories from the field – how do we move away from usual suspects and get to the truly innovative ideas?
  - Can the ClB network perhaps also provide for trainers for UCLG?
